ORANGEBURG, S. C., MAY 30, 1879.

Henry Kohn is fighting the dull times by selling his dry goods at low prices.

Remember the Fair Ball this evening at the Fair Building. Good music will be on band.

To-day being a national holiday the postoffice will be open only from half-past 10 o'clock A. M. to 2 o'clock P. M.

Y. M. C. A.—The Sunday afternoon prayer meetings of this Association will be commenced on Sunday evening next, June 1st, at quarter-past six o'clock, until further notice.

The crops are reported by several gentlemen from various points in the county to be small and grassy. We trust, however, that the present dry and warm weather will mend matters.

We saw a strawberry last week that measured three inches and a half in circumference. Our little friend, Richie Pike, picked it out of his father's garden. It was some strawberry certain.

Bachelor Sam Scudder, of Wild Cherry Creek, Ohio, is quite bald. When the girls see him coming, they say, "Here comes Balsam of Wild Cherry," and then they all begin to cough.

We call the attention of the friends of the Floral Fair to the following changes in the admittance fees: Adults, 25 cents, and children 15 cents. Every one can certainly afford to pay so small a fee for the encouragement of such an important enterprise.

We have been requested to give notice that the following articles sent to the Methodist Sunday School Picnic remain unclaimed in the hands of the committee: 4 towels, 1 saucer, 1 basket, 1 black handle knife, 2 white handle knives, 2 forks. Persons owning these things can get them by calling on Mr. B. B. Owens, at Mr. D. Louis' store.

Mr. J. C. Pike handed us a sample package of W. Duke's genuine Pro Bono Publico Durham smoking tobacco for the good of the DEMOCRAT. We have tried it and unhesitatingly pronounce it to be a No. 1 smoking tobacco. Mr. Pike is the agent for the sale of this brand and has a supply on hand sufficiently large to meet the demand. A trial is all that is needed to induce a purchase.

Choice bread, rolls, pies and cakes are constantly on hand at the People's Bakery. A full line of the best confectionery, fancy goods and notions are kept for sale and every effort is made by the proprietor, Mr. T. W. Albergotti, to meet the demands of his increasing trade. One of the latest features instituted by Mr. Albergotti is a ten cents counter, from which his customers may select any one article for this price. Our readers will do well to read his advertisement in another column weekly and call oftener.

We have been pained to learn just as we are preparing to go to press of the death of the little babe of Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Hubble which occurred at an early hour on Thursday morning. A severe, and oftentimes painful, illness of more than a month wasted the little one away, and finally changed it to an angel of light to minister about the pathway of the dear ones left behind it. Our sympathies are tendered to the parents with the hope that they may look upon this bereavement as an affliction of love from Him who loves more than our earthly parents.

The Concert.

We take pleasure in publishing the following communication instead of any comments we might be able to make on so complete a success as the Concert evidently was:

A Concert, given in aid of the Episcopal Church in Orangeburg, announced for the 23d of May, under the auspices of Mr. H. Kohn, Mrs. Knowlton, and a corps of able assistants, put the music loving and pleasure seeking part of our little burgh, as also their "cousins, aunts and sisters" in the surrounding rural districts on the qui vive of pleasant expectation.

The evening, lighted by the beams of a fair, young moon overhead, was delightfully cool and fresh. At the appointed hour, half-past eight, the Court House, which had been kindly loaned for the occasion, was brilliantly lighted up, and filled with an appreciative and refined audience.

The entertainment opened with an overture by Mrs. Henry Kohn, Miss Jacobson at the piano, Messrs. Kohn and Jacobson with violins. The execution on the piano was brilliant and graceful, the violins, too, were touched as by a "master hand," and the music so sweet the listener held his breath to hear.

Then followed a solo which called forth the admiration always elicited by the gifted and cultivated singer, Mrs. Knowlton; her appearance was greeted by long and loud applause, and her exit made amid a shower of bouquets.

"I would that my love," by Miss Wannamaker and Mr. H. Kohn won for the youthful debutante a burst of applause, and gave promise of a successful future.

Mrs. H. Kohn, in a piano solo, displayed a skill, grace and brilliancy rarely surpassed. Duet, "Break, Break, Break," by Mrs. Knowlton and Dr. Taber was rendered with a deep pathos and "tender grace," which gave new charm to the touchingly sad and beautiful poem. The mournful spell cast over the listener was broken by the loud and continued encores, which were only silenced by the reappearance of the performers.

Part first closed with a duet by Miss Fanny and Master Gussie Knowlton, aged apparently eight and ten years. The modest timidity of the children, especially the little girl, would have disarmed unkind criticism, had there not been real merit in their performance, but the song, "My own dear Southern Home," the words composed by Maj. Knowlton, fell melodiously on Southern ears, and was sweetly sung by the youthful pair.

A half hour's recess was pleasantly passed in partaking of refreshments prepared for the occasion, and while the dainty cakes and delightful ice cream gave comfort to the inner man, the ears were ravished with sweet sounds from beautiful musical selections by the "Quintette Club." Part second opened with a charming and brilliantly executed overture by Mrs. Kohn, Miss Jacobson, Mr. Kohn and Mr. Jacobson. The fine performance again elicited the admiration and applause of the audience. "A thing of beauty is a joy forever," en passant, we would remark, that the tasteful dress, graceful form, and youthful, joyous face of Miss J. added not a little to the offering she had made of her beautiful talent.

We have neither time nor space to dwell upon the merits of each piece, or the different performers; it is enough, and only truthful to say, the selections were fine and the performance par excellence. The violin trio by Messrs. Kohn, Jacobson and Glover; the quartette by Messrs. Fowles, Wannamaker, LaRoche and Kohn received enthusiastic applause, but the delightful "Bird Song" of Mrs. Knowlton was truly the piece of the evening and merits especial notice, and yet what can we say of it, or to what may we liken it? Not in its wonderful imitations to the music of the songsters of the grove, for under the mocking of the sweet bird-like tones, the low twitter, the soaring carol, the exquisite trill, and varying song of the sweet nightingale, we heard the deep monotone of the human voice divine—the only tones which carry to man's heart, the story of man's stormy passions, his love, his joy, and his sorrows. Shall we say she was the Jenny Lind of the evening? Oh! no, for she was, with her own sweet, rich, full voice, Mrs. Knowlton, our countrywoman, more to us than the Swedish nightingale!

Prof. Lawrence, by a humorous recitation brought down the house with shouts of laughter and applause.

The performance closed with selections from "Pinafore" in which the jolly Captain and his gallant crew, the "women" not excepted, played their parts right bravely.

Thus ended "The Concert" voted by old men and maidens, young men and matrons to have been the most recherche gathering and brilliant entertainment of the kind ever recorded in the annals of our growing little city.

A full line of Dr. Price's Unique Perfumes, Cologne and Toilet Waters. These Perfumes have gained their popularity from their exquisite sweetness and permanency of odor. Any lady or gentleman who will give them a trial, will be convinced that no Perfumes, made in this or any other country, can compare with them. They are only to be used to be admired. For sale by Dr. J. G. Wannamaker.

The dwelling of Col. J. C. Edwards on the State road in St. Matthews about sixty-three miles above Charleston, was entirely consumed by fire on last Friday. A spark from the chimney is supposed to have ignited the old shingle roof which was very dry, and of course combustible. Much of the furniture was saved, but the loss is considerable. Mrs. Edwards, who was ill, had to be carried to an outhouse near by.

Our dwelling was entered Monday night last by a burglar, who secured a gold watch, old English style and a family relic, two suits of clothing, and a little money. Some men are to be despised, others to be abhorred, but what is to be said of a thief who will plunder a house for the pocket-book of an editor. The watch was made by Jno. Moncas, Liverpool, and is more than one hundred years old. We do not know the number, but it has upon the back the initial letters "H. G. S." engraved. Any information of the watch will be gladly received.

In our last issue we remarked that there were two of our enterprising merchants who had started five cents counters. We were mistaken in this, as Mr. C. D. Kortjohn is the first and only one who has this remarkable feature attached to his business. It is astonishing the many valuable and useful articles found on his counter at a nickle. His place has been largely patronized the past week in consequence of it. His store seems always full of customers and his assistants busy. He has lots of goods on his shelves just as reasonable as those on his cheap counter, and still they come. Our idea, from personal observation, is that friend Kortjohn will have to enlarge his store to keep up with his increasing business.

The fifth annual meeting of the South Carolina State Press Association is appointed for Wednesday, June 11, at 9 o'clock at Spartanburg. Matters of importance to the press will come up for consideration, and all journalists in the State are invited to be present and join the Association. Col. T. Stobo Farrow, the accomplished and enterprising editor of the Spartanburg Herald, promises a nice time and an open hospitality to the members of the press who may find it convenient to attend. We trust there will be a representation from every county at least, and the press will be relieved, if a certain measure, which will be proposed, is adopted, of much of the responsibility unnecessarily resting upon it. The DEMOCRAT, though absent, will vote "aye" on the important matter.

The excursion given by Capt. J. T. Foster, of the steamer Louisa, on the Santee River last Tuesday we learn, from a gentleman who was aboard, was a complete success. The steamer, started from Prospect Landing amid the booming of cannon and the shriek of the whistle, proceeding to Waco where the party was largely increased, thence to Pinkney's where a further increase was made until those on board numbered more than two hundred persons. The steamer at this point turned down the stream and went as far as Marica's Point. This spot was pointed out by Capt. Foster as the place where General Marion and his men used to cross the river in the days of the Revolution. The course was then headed up stream again until Davis' Landing was reached. Here all went ashore and gathered around a splendid feast spread beneath the shade of the trees. At four o'clock the party again went aboard and were soon landed safely at their respective landings. An immense quantity of lemonade, ice cream, cordials, lager beer, &c., was on board and Capt. Foster was truly overwhelming in his hospitality and attention. Everyone enjoyed himself immensely and the day will long be remembered by all the participants. The DEMOCRAT was invited to join the excursion, but we could not go on account of an engagement elsewhere.

Sunday School Pic-nic.

One of the most pleasant days of our life was spent in company with the St. Paul's Methodist Sunday School in a grove in front of Col. A. D. Frederick's dwelling three miles below the village on last Tuesday. There seemed to be a peculiar combination of circumstances which proved most favorable for the success of the occasion. The day was bright and comfortable throughout, our kind friends, the hospitalities of whose home we were invited to enjoy, Col. A. D. Frederick and his most excellent lady, (may they live forever), were, if possible, in a more amiable mood than we had ever known them; the grove with its shade trees and its beautiful carpet of green was a fit dwelling for the gods and nymphs who were about to reign for a short period amid its lovely bowers; the expectant children usually so hopeful were in the best of moods to realize their expectations. The parents and friends were promptly on the ground with loaded baskets and comfortably arranged wagons for the outward march; and if it had not been for a slight accident of the night before the editor would have been as lively as the merriest of them. The procession of wagons, buggies and carriages, at least half a mile long, arrived at Col. Frederick's grove about half past eight o'clock without an accident, and let loose about two hundred as merry little souls as ever cracked a smile or screamed a yell. After grouping, taking observations and discussing the position of affairs and the probabilities of the day, the little boys in one part of the grove engaged in a tilt with a foot-ball, and the little girls in another portion became enthusiastic over "Little Sally Walker," "Open the Gate as high as the skies," &c. Scarcely becoming tired of these enjoyments before the chairman of the executive committee, Mr. G. A. Neuffer, and that prince of friends to the little ones, Mr. Fred S. Dibble, had the boys arranged in a line for a foot race. Revs. M. Brown and O. A. Darby acting as judges, the Superintendent took his position and with a huge stick of candy, the prize, in one hand, gave the word and off started the anxious racers but only one, Master Claud Neuffer, received the candy. Another line of the larger boys was formed and a second race run, in which Master Wesley Brown reached the rope a length ahead and won another huge lump of candy. So high had the excitement reached that the girls demanded the course and the dear little creatures proved that they were used to romp and play by the nimble activity which won the prizes for Mary Brunson and Lilly Bull. Two more races were run by the boys on all-fours in the first of which Master Wesley Brown trotted through on excellent time winning the slate in one and a quarter minutes. Master Robie Izlar won the pony stakes in the second race, coming out several lengths ahead. Mr. Dibble not allowing the interest to flag, brought out a half dozen bags in each of which a boy was quickly and securely tied. This was the climax of fun for such running and tumbling and rolling and jumping were never seen before in these parts, Masters J. Link and Freddie Wannamaker rolled through in grand style, amid the shouts and laughter of the dense crowd that thronged the race course.

Here the bugle and drum called the crowd to the grand canvas tent where a real animal show was prepared by Mr. J. J. Street for the further amusement of the little ones. With the Superintendent as door-keeper, the anxious mass of little ones and old ones—men, women and children were admitted in one continuous stream until every one had seen the Giraffe and Elephant. The biggest animal in that show was an enormous Humbug. Dinner being announced, every thing was laid aside and we addressed ourselves to one of the best and most bountifully supplied table we have ever witnessed. Great praise is due the committee of ladies for the order and success of this feature of the picnic, to which much of the real fun and pleasure of the occasion is due; also to Messrs. G. A. Neuffer, B. B. Owens, Jimmie Stephens, P. Brunson and George Dexter for the get-up and general supervision of the whole affair. After dinner, Mr. Henry Kohn with his club discoursed the sweetest music for an hour or more, after which Rev. O. A. Darby and Prof. Lawrence made speeches perfectly in keeping with the festivities of the day and as usual met the requirement of the occasion. A base ball game was played in full uniform between the Juniors and Hamptons, the former winning the game by five runs. Good-bye, load up—were the signals for a general break up, everyone leaving the ground delighted with the picnic, and with blessings for the dear little ones for whose amusement pastors, parents and friends had united to make this a gala day.

We learn that the dwelling of Mr. B. Williamson was entered on Monday night last, by the same burglars who visited and robbed us. Only one pair of pants in which all his keys were kept, were taken. The keys were returned next morning and about nine o'clock were found lying near the gate post.

The following certificate explains itself: "I have been a fortunate purchaser of one of Mr. Meroney's elevators. The general verdict of the whole family since I have had this pump or elevator or anything else you may call it, is that the water is most decidedly improved in every respect. While we thought our well good before with certain drawbacks, it is now beyond reproach, and we ascribe this to the elevator." W. J. DeTREVILLE.

TALK about your horseback rides, your buggy rides, your sleigh rides, etc., but for a ride with good solid pleasure commend us to a horse-wagon, in which there is four or five pretty young ladies, several sweet little girls, two ministers and a good jolly driver. If the seats are movable and the roads are pretty rough the pleasure of the ride will be wonderfully increased. A representative of the DEKORAT who has tried all the various modes of riding above mentioned says he is decidedly in favor of the wagon, but thinks it necessary to have the ladies along to make that mode of riding a success.
